Dear Muriel:

I have just seen the galley proofs of your biography of Carl and I am delighted! I had not previously seen your revised article. I knew that John was asking you to make some revisions and I was irritated at him for urging you to change your original manuscript; however, old "Uncle John" did you and our readers a favor. The new manuscript is beautifully written and much more warmth and tenderness comes through. Your final paragraph with the Frost poem moved me to tears and I think all of our Staff as well as VOICES readers will see Carl's leaving Atlanta in a new light. Our growing edges are still very tender and Carl's old office is quite empty, but your VOICES article makes me feel something of the positive possibilities (for you at least) in your move to Wisconsin.

The entire Issue #3, TENDERNESS, seems an excellent one -- it's due out March 1, 1966. Your article will be well received I am sure.

Again, thank you for your significant contribution.

All my love to Carl and family,

Tom Leland
